EXPERIENCE

Mike has extensive experience in complex financial remedies work, including high net worth cases and where assets are in complex trust or company structures. He was shortlisted by Chambers UK for family law junior of the year in 2020. He advises on and drafts pre-nuptial agreements and other relationship agreements. In 2013 he appeared in the important case of Hamilton on whether an order for the payment of lump sum by instalments could be varied. He is particularly interested in set aside claims, where a party seeks to reopen family law compromises. His book, Compromise in Family Law: Law and Practice, was published in 2016, and has been described as a 'handy, concise – yet comprehensive and informed – reference book' and making 'a highly distinctive contribution to family law literature'.

Mike has particular expertise in intervener cases, where third parties bring property law claims within financial remedy proceedings. He is highly regarded for his 'tolata' work involving property law disputes between unmarried couples or other family members. He appeared in leading cases such as O'Neill v Holland (2020) and Barnes v Philips (2015). Mike edits chapter 21 of Rayden & Jackson on Relationship Breakdown, Finances and Children, which is the chapter dealing with property and ToLATA disputes.

His international family law experience includes jurisdiction disputes and cross-border enforcement, as exemplified by the forum dispute in Villiers v Villiers, in which Mike led Alex Laing in the Supreme Court, with judgment given in July 2020. The appeal related to whether the English court should entertain an application for failure to maintain under s 27 when there are divorce proceedings before the Scottish courts. Subsequently, Mike and Alex successfully represented Mr Villiers, acting pro bono, in the first instance proceedings, instructed by Dawson Cornwell, and judgment was given on 11 March 2021 in which Mr Villiers successfully defended the s 27 maintenance application against him.

In 2019, Mike also represented Southall Black Sisters on their intervention in the 'non-marriage' appeal of Akhter v Khan. Mike drafted a skeleton argument on behalf of Southall Black Sisters, who were given permission to intervene and make oral submissions, highlighting the detrimental impact of the concept of a 'non-marriage' has on some minority ethnic women.

Mike is a qualified Arbitrator (MCI (Arb)) and accepts instructions to arbitrate financial remedy and ToLATA disputes. He is happy to accept instructions for early neutral evaluations and to act as a private FDR evaluator 'judge'. He is also trained in collaborative law. Mike will soon to be able to accept instructions as a civil mediator. He has undertaken the weeklong training course run by the Society of Mediators.

Mike has written extensively on family law and property law issues, including a recent two-part article in Family Law on protecting pension sharing claims. He is a well-respected lecturer, and has given talks on proprietary estoppel, recent changes to capital gains tax, and the protection of pension sharing claims.

His financial remedy practice extends to:

- Conventional financial remedies disputes;

- Child support cases (including advising on a recent appeal from the Upper Tribunal to the Court of Appeal);
